How this works

Introduction, Strategy, and Brainstorming:

In this 4-stage process, I will...

Stage 1: You'll start by introducing yourself through a questionnaire. This document will serve as the foundation for your entire essay-writing process.

Stage 2: Brainstorm/consult with you. During this brainstorming session, you will discuss a core idea, seminal experiences to include in the statement of purpose, and a structure for the statement of purpose. We'll delve into your background, aspirations, and experiences, getting to know you personally.

Stage 3: Generate an outline for your essay based on your responses to the questionnaire and the brainstorming session. The outline consists of prompts and bullet points. It is NOT a draft.

Stage 4: Edit the essay with your revisions and additions.

This pack is designed with your success in mind, and it gives you the confidence to know that you are submitting a top-of-the-pile essay. It stands separate from all other documents you might offer as a part of your application. It is indeed possible to create an essay that meets the requirements and stands out as a compelling narrative that scholarship committees will remember.
